Totto-chan, the Little Girl at the Window tells a true story of the author when she was in primary school. The author, Tetsuko Kuroyanagi, was expelled from school before she came to Tomoe Gakuen, a Tokyo elementary school founded by educator Sosaku Kobayashi. Under the care and guidance of Mr. Kobayashi, the weird Totto-chan was gradually accepted by others, which laid a lifetime foundation for her. The book, one of the most influential works of the 20th century, not only amused and touched the souls of millions of readers around the world, but also vitalized the development of modern education.
