Champion (Champion of Light Trilogy Book 1) Claudette Cruz

The battle between the Light and the Darkness is eternal, but the warriors that fight that battle are not. New champions must rise to face the evils of the world and keep the Darkness at bay, and young Prince Eneir was one of the chosen, selected by the fates and awaited for a century by the fairies so that his training could begin to restore balance to a world slipping ever closer to the Darkness that awaits.

Prince Eneir's parents knew of their son's destiny, yet died before they were able to tell him. With only an unexplainable inner urging toward the forest surrounding Dancia to guide him, Prince Eneir will have to find his way...but he will not have to battle alone.

The siren Serpeth, fair of form and face, crosses the path of the young prince and is outraged that a mere human would be trusted with the fate of all that is. However, the fairies can be persuasive...even with a beautiful, stubborn siren. Serpeth will join the quest to train Eneir to become Light's Champion, despite her doubts...because the fairies' plans are not easily ignored.

Will Prince Eneir and Serpeth be enough to turn the tide and fulfill the prophecy of a new Champion of the Light, or will the world be doomed to surrender to the ever-waiting Darkness?
